

Payment Withdrawal Authorization

When you provide your payment source information to us, you authorize American Honda Finance Corporation (“AHFC”) (DBA Honda Financial Services or Acura Financial Services) to withdraw funds by electronic transfer from the payment source identified by you or others authorized on the account each time a payment is requested using our online or telephone payment services (and to make credits to correct errors). You or the authorized party will select the amount of the payment and the payment date when a payment is requested. This authorization will remain in effect until you or the authorized party cancel it. You may cancel the authorization at any time online by accessing this website and removing the payment source information, but the cancellation will not apply to any payments already requested and are already in process. If you cancel your authorization by removing your payment source, you will no longer be able to submit payments or use our automated telephone payment services unless you reenroll by adding a new payment source. This method of cancellation (and other methods of cancellation we may make available from time to time) is the only way that you can cancel this authorization.

If any payment is rejected due to insufficient funds, AHFC may charge you a fee and your bank may also charge you a fee.

You agree that the payments authorized by you and others authorized on the account must comply with the terms of U.S. law.
